Preliminary draft Master Plan and preliminary draft third runway Major Development Plan public exhibition consultation

Thank you to everyone who participated in the public exhibition consultation of the preliminary draft Master Plan and preliminary draft third runway Major Development Plan. We appreciate you making the time to take part, and for providing feedback and asking questions. We received almost 3000 submissions. The team is now working through the issues and concerns raised and making changes to the draft plans where possible.

During the 104 days of consultation, the team hosted more than 50 face-to-face information sessions in communities that included Keilor, Sunbury, Footscray, Altona, Bulla, Taylors Lakes and Sunshine, as well as numerous online sessions.

We had tens of thousands of visitors to the public exhibition online engagement portal and hosted engagements with 61 local

Welcome to the first edition of the Melbourne Airport Community Newsletter to keep you informed of our operations and projects, runway plans and other related news.

Melbourne Airport is an important hub for Australia's international and domestic networks and is currently seeking federal government approval to build a new north-south runway, which will result in changes to flight paths around Melbourne. It's important that we keep you up to date with what's happening and that we continue to hear what's important to you.

councils, Members of Parliament and government bodies.

We translated information into seven languages, added extra events and presentations in response to community feedback, and answered thousands of questions.

The preliminary draft Master Plan presented an outline of the Airport's future development, while the preliminary draft third runway Major Development Plan presented an overview of the proposed third runway. Melbourne Airport is located on Commonwealth land and is subject to Commonwealth legislation under the Airports Act (1996). Australia Pacific Airports operates Melbourne Airport under lease from the Federal Government.

Approval process for the draft 2022 Master Plan and draft third runway Major Development Plan

With the public exhibition period over, our work has shifted to giving due regard to all the submissions received and updating the preliminary draft Master Plan and preliminary draft third runway Major Development Plan. Where possible, changes will be made to address community concerns or areas of interest. Once updated, we'll submit the plans and the accompanying Supplementary Report, which will include all submissions received during the public exhibition consultation, to the federal Minister for Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Local Government to consider.

Ever considered a career in aviation?

Melbourne Airport is experiencing huge demand as travellers return to the sky, as are airports and airlines all over the world. With this comes the need to fill a range of vacancies across the airport. Scan the QR code for a list of current job vacancies within the Melbourne Airport precinct.

Melbourne Airport Community Grants

Ten community centres and Neighbourhood Houses offering support to communities in Melbourne's north and west will share in more than $100,000 through Melbourne Airport's 2022 Community Grants program. Established in 2019, the community grants enable education and employment pathway projects as part of our promise to support our communities on the airport's doorstep.

Grants of $10,000 are being awarded to ten neighbourhood houses in August 2022.

Noise

Melbourne Airport is Victoria's main gateway and a vital contributor to the state's economy. A range of legislation, planning controls and mitigation strategies help to balance the airport's economic and social benefits with the impacts of noise in the community.

The Melbourne Airport site was selected to minimise the impact of aircraft noise on urban areas, but over time, residential development has been allowed to encroach on the airport and its flight paths. Despite improvements to modern jet engines, aircraft noise remains an unavoidable by-product of airport operations.

During the public exhibition consultation we heard about the challenges communities face around flight paths, and the need for noise and air quality monitors. Melbourne Airport already has two air quality monitoring stations: one on the airfield, south of the existing north-south runway and the other to the east of the east-west runway at 317-349 Mickleham Road, Westmeadows. We work with Airservices Australia to monitor aircraft noise in nearby communities, and we're currently exploring options for increased noise monitoring in response to the feedback we've received.
