Melbourne Airport 2022 Master Plan approved

The Federal Minister for Infrastructure, Transport, Regional Development and Local Government has approved Melbourne Airport's 2022 Master Plan.

The 2022 Master Plan is a high-level, strategic document that will help guide development of the airport precinct for the next 20 years and beyond.

Consistent with previous Melbourne Airport Master Plans, the 2022 Master Plan safeguards for a four runway layout and provides guidance for the order in which the new runways will be built.

The 2022 Master Plan confirms Melbourne Airport's third runway being built in a north-south direction, with safeguarding for a fourth runway in an east-west direction in what is known as the "hashtag configuration".

Alongside the 2022 Master Plan, Melbourne Airport is developing a sustainability strategy. We are committed to net zero (Scope 1 and 2) carbon emissions by 2025, with work underway to reduce Scope 3 emissions. We are committed to circular economy principles, including on major infrastructure.

It is important to note that approval of the 2022 Master Plan does not imply approval of the third runway Major Development Plan.

Melbourne Airport now plans to submit its proposal to build the third runway to the Commonwealth for consideration early in the new year.

A decision on the third runway Major Development Plan is expected around the middle of next year and is subject to Commonwealth Government timelines.

Runway 16/34 maintenance project

Melbourne Airport is undertaking safety-critical maintenance works to replace approximately 2,500 metres of asphalt on the existing north-south runway (Runway 16/34). This is carried out every decade or so to ensure the runway remains in a sound condition to support aircraft movements for the next 10-12 years.

To complete this work, it is necessary to undertake temporary overnight closures of the north-south runway. From November 2022, and for approximately 10 months, these closures will take place five nights a week for between 6.5 and 8 hours. During these night-time closures, aircraft will use the east-west runway (Runway 09/27). This will see an increased use of existing flight paths to the east and west of the airport during the closure times.

In February 2023 for approximately a month and in May 2023 for around a week, we will undertake maintenance works on the area where the two runways intersect. During this time, the north-south runway will be temporarily shortened, and the east-west runway will be closed, again for five nights a week. This will see an increased use of existing flight paths to the south of the airport during these closure periods.

You can find more information, including answers to frequently asked questions, on our community website at www.melbourneairport.com.au/runway-maintenance-project.

We hear you! New noise monitoring on the way

Melbourne Airport is conducting site surveys for new temporary noise monitoring to the north and south of the airfield. This is in direct response to feedback we received from the community during the public exhibition period for the 2022 Master Plan and Melbourne Airport's third runway project. Initially in Brimbank and Hume, the locations of the monitoring will be reviewed regularly in conjunction with government authorities.

Upcoming community pop ups

We were pleased to meet so many people at our recent pop ups at the Taylors Lakes Lions Community Festival and the Djerriwarrh Festival at Melton. Conversation topics varied from the proposed third runway, the new rail line and jobs at the airport.

Our next community pop ups will be at:

- the aircraft viewing area on Sunbury Road, Bulla on Saturday 17 December, 12-3pm
- Midsumma Carnival at Alexandra Gardens on Sunday 22 January 2023, 11am.

Supporting our community

Melbourne Airport is partnering with Foodbank Victoria to help feed families in need across the state.

Foodbank Victoria is the largest and oldest food relief charity and provides help to 100,000 Victorians in need every two days. Based in Yarraville, Foodbank Victoria distributes more than 10 million kilograms of food and grocery items each year.

Melbourne Airport is providing financial support and volunteer staff to help package and distribute food in Melbourne's northern and western suburbs. Demand for Foodbank Victoria's services is even higher now than during Covid lockdowns and recent floods have put extra pressure on resources.

You can help by donating at www.melbourneairport.com.au/foodbank.

Solar farm at Melbourne Airport

Operational from January 2021, the 12MW fixed tilt solar farm located north of our north-south runway at Oaklands Junction is the largest solar farm at any Australian airport. The size of 26 soccer fields or over 19 hectares, this renewable energy hub is an impressive sight from the sky!

The solar farm is delivering 15GW hours of electricity each year, almost 15% of the airport's energy needs, and it can produce enough energy to power all four of our terminal buildings.

A second solar farm, being built directly south of the existing solar farm, will almost double our on-ground solar capacity from 12MW to 20MW. We expect to complete this work in 2024. We are also ensuring roofs of future business park developments are designed to support future solar installations.

In January 2022, we committed to a target of net zero Scope 1 and Scope 2 carbon emissions by 2025, which are emissions owned and controlled by Melbourne Airport. We will achieve this by:

- meeting half of our energy needs through onsite solar generation by 2030
- securing green energy from the Victorian grid via a Green Power Purchasing Agreement
- reducing energy consumption through continued energy efficiency programs in buildings across our estate.

Melbourne Airport Rail

Melbourne Airport continues to work with the state and federal governments to deliver the Melbourne Airport Rail Link.

The line is expected to open in 2029 and will connect to the existing suburban network at Sunshine, with a new station to be built at Keilor East.

Work on the airport station design continues, with Melbourne Airport focused on delivering a world class passenger experience for Victoria's global gateway.
